TOWER

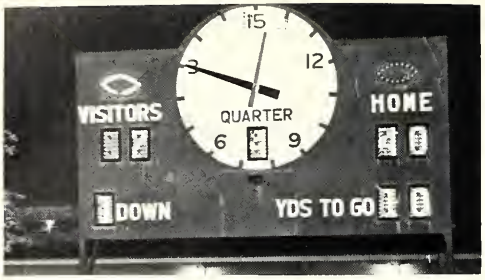
U. HIGH'S STUDENTS



SPORTS PAGE 9

The students at University High lead a busy life of study, sports, organizations and other activities, as do all students in high school. Most students would agree that there are too few hours in the day for relaxing and enjoying their own efforts to learn something about the world they live in. The ways students assimilate knowledge vary from studying to practical applications of organizing activities and working with people. Some students think it more rewarding to make the social life at University High stimulating, instead of reading a book, and most try to find the time to do both.

TIME RUNS OUT

THE HIGH SCHOOL YEARS ARE OVER

"A la laboratoire"

It isn't very often that students take time out to appreciate teachers. Despite our personal feelings toward them, all of our teachers should be thanked for accepting the responsibility of giving us an education and for enduring our growing pains, our rudeness, corny jokes, and misbehavior. All of our teachers deserve recognition, but one teacher in particular deserves extra attention.

Mrs. Brackett has taught foreign languages at University School for four years. She originally taught Latin I, French I and II, but now she has added Latin II, French III and IV, and most recently, French for the fifth graders; then she also finds time to sponsor the Latin and French Clubs. In addition, Mrs. Brackett has a time-consuming family of 3 boys, 1 husband, 4 dogs and 2 horses (a reasonble guess) to whom she owes the majority of her time. Is it any wonder then that occasionally she is not in the best mood?

Anyone having Mrs. Brackett as a teacher realizes that she has a unique personality. No one is quite as capable of being candid about teenagers. She is aware of their every move in her classroom and quite often outside of it. Mrs. B. is perhaps most famous for her chamber of horrors, the laboratory, and her tests. (How about that "Opening Night" in Latin II?)

In dedicating the TOWER to Mrs. Brackett, the editors hope that her unrewarded devotion will be appreciated.

SPORTS

Once or twice a week during the fall and winter months, U-High students forget their studies, dash to the gym or cram into buses and yell themselves hoarse at a football or basketball game. For spectators it is a time to relax from school work; for the players it is time to show the results of many hours of practice, time to listen to the coach, time to compete.

Not much talent but a whole lot of heart--that was the story of the Lynx gridders this season. The team spirit remained undaunted through a plague of injuries and losses to finally jell with late experience for two exciting victories at the close of the season.

The beginning was somewhat less cheerful. The first two games were marred by injuries which added to the preseason toll of maimed personnel, led to a 4 game losing streak with a tie being the only bright spot. One of those who missed the whole year was Bill Turkington. Bill turned freshman coach to gain some compensation for his bad "break".

It was a losing season as far as victories go, but losing taught valuable lessons. Lessons which were put to good use in the final games.

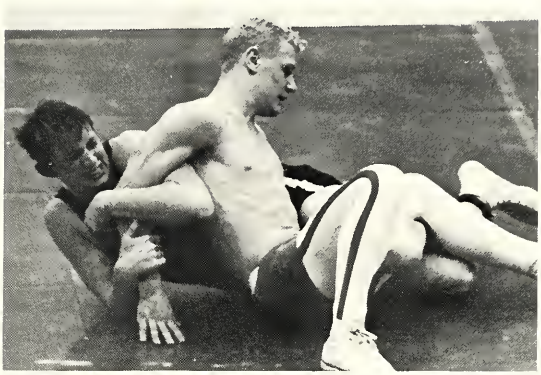
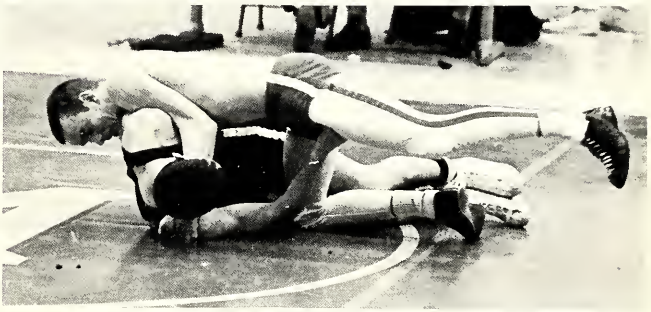
WRESTLING



Dixon of C.C.H.S. vs. Morrison at C.C.H.S. Quadrangular.

Under stiff competition with larger schools, the Lynx wrestlers had to settle for individual successes to highlight a weak team year. Captain Bill Pugh led all grapplers in his weight class by posting a perfect record. Regardless of their few victories, the Lynxes did well for their number against teams of larger sizes. This in itself warrants commendation to these U-High athletes.



Pugh wins by a 6-0 decision over Hawk of Community at the C.C.H.S. Quadrangular in January.

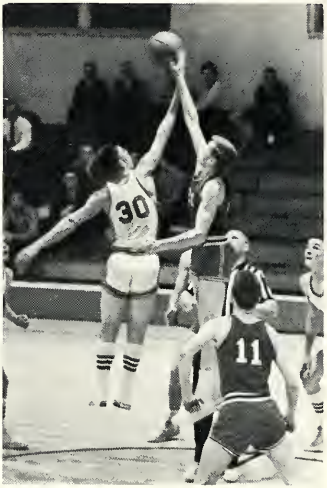
NEW COACH,

A practice rebound



Although Coach Kenneth Schatz was new on the U. High basketball scene this year, he got his team into condition early. His techniques were new but the team learned fast and put them to good use. Both the pattern ball and free lance were of equal importance in the Lynx's offense with the fast break and a good man-to-man defense completing the style.

The 1962-63 basketball season marked the last year for U. High in the Southern Six Conference. The Lynxes will enter into the tough Black Diamond Conference in '63-'64. As usual graduation will claim its toll as Red Basler, Ross Franklin, Tom Gallegly, Bruce Horrell, Robert Mees, Paul Schoen, Bill Turkington and Dan Wheeler will all be lost from the team.

SOUTHERN SIX CONFERENCE

DANNY WHEELER

The freshman Lynxes, coached by Jerry Cummins and John Paul Mees, compiled a respectable record this year through a combination of talent, experience, hustle and team spirit. The Lynxes, led by Tim Higgins, beat arch-rival Carbondale Community three times in hard fought athletic contests.

The Junior High Cheerleaders are Ellen Potter, Sue Feigenbaum, Debbie Graper, Marlene Lurie, Mary Lou Anderson, Robin Feigenbaum and Barbara Bunten.

The Junior High Lynxes, playing in a new conference and tournament, had an outstanding season. By winning 33 out of 34 games in the last two years, the eighth graders won first place in their conference and third place in the tournament. The seventh graders ended their season with a commendable 12-5 record. To climax their Junior High basketball careers, the eighth grade Lynxes defeated the freshmen for the first time in eight years.

ORGANIZATIONS

The students of University High spend their after-school hours in many ways: studying in the libraries, bombing around in cars, practicing basketball or loafing at home. For those more ambitious students who can find time to join organizations, these hours are time for working, learning and sometimes organized mayhem.

Working on the TOWER is a thankless, time-consuming job with no pay, and it requires dedication, initiative, responsibility, creativity, energy, and patience. Deadlines are often missed because the editors are determined to make THIS edition the most original and are dedicated to their job. The staff is eager to learn, but lack the experience and incentive to do their best; after all, they have other activities and studies to hold their interest. Besides editing, the editors must take on the responsibility of teaching the staff the required knowledge to publish an 84-page book. And what does all this work result in? The taken-for-granted and often criticized TOWER which you are now holding.

This year, the necessary photographs were taken, developed, and printed by the Staff Photographer Jim Brown and Editor Nancy Rossiter. J. B. and Flowers haunted the school with their cameras and threatened to commit suicide when afflicted with darkroom deliriums.

This year's TOWER TIMES staff, headed by Benita Greer, led the way to some new and refreshing practices for the school paper. Starting the new term off right with a welcome edition on the first day of school, the staff went on to surprise everyone with a "scoop" on the Homecoming Queen election results, a colorful Christmas issue, and plans to correspond with high schools in South America.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

Suggestions anyone?

Jr. High Council in action.

The 1962-1963 U. High Student Council aimed, as have all past councils, at improvement. The council worked this year to extend its duties and responsibilities in U. High. As a result, the council became more effective as a student voice in the coordination of administration, faculty, and students. Guided by its officers-Jon Swanson as Vice President, Mary Jean Fitzpatrick as Secretary, and Emma Jean Tally as Treasurer, the council accomplished all its goals. All, that is, except the balanced budget.

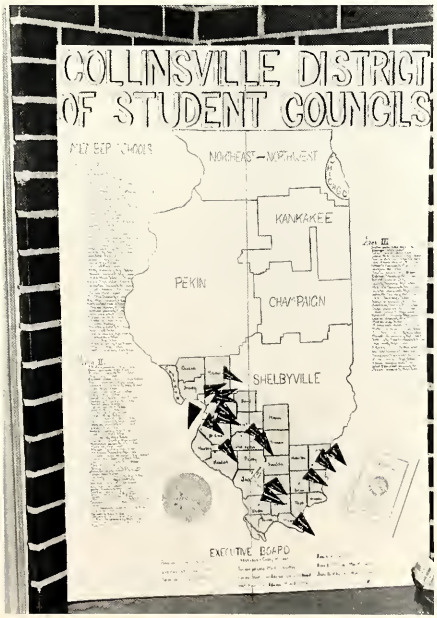
TO STUDENT BODY

This year was a very good one for the Junior High student council. As usual they kept busy planning the four Junior High dances held each year. They also learned about their student council constitution drawn up by a previous council and on December 2 they attended the district student council's convention where they exchanged ideas with other student council members.



The Collinsville District of Student Councils Convention was hosted by its President Jon Swanson at University High on November 3, 1962.

Every Friday afternoon around three, one may hear a mild stampede of girls heading for the field or gym. Although membership has declined because camp has been abolished (due to non-member participants), these girls still in G.A.A. find it's a great way to let off steam and frustrations built up during the week. Under the leadership of Nancy Rossiter (better known as Flowers) and Miss Goller, these fair damsels have not only had barrels of fun but they have also raised money by selling concessions at games in order to make the G.A.A. - F. H.A. Dance the greatest ever.

TO BOOKS TO

Future librarians and avid readers have a chance to develop their interests in the Library Club. Their activities included: working as junior librarians during their free time; holding a tea for teachers; discussing and evaluating various current, and not so current, literary achievements.

The members of Library Club are Carol Ann Hughes, Phyllis Hearn, Laura Melvin, Janis Miller, Mary Dean Alcorn, Mrs. Marybelle Melvin, E.J. Tally, Marilyn Weinacht, and Nancy Brandon.

SELF-EXPRESSION IMPORTANT TO DEBATE

This year's debaters are: (SEATED) Wesley Smith, Katie Benziger, Frosti Croslin, Marsha Howards, Janis McCord, Jane Arvin, and Debbie Somberg. STANDING are David Mercer, Jim Tudor, Charles Jacobini, John Foote, Fred Wiley, Julian McHale, Alex Beveridge and Scott Hinners.

The art of arguing purposefully is not easily acquired, and the members of the Debate Team worked hard at it. Sponsored by Mr. Kleinau, the debaters attended many speech contests, gaining awards and experience. The debate topic this year was: Propose that the U.S. should promote a Common Market for the Western Hemisphere. Most of the meetings of this group are spent practicing debates, discussing the debate topic, and exchanging information sources.

AND DRAMA

Although the Drama Club got off to a slow start, the year finally turned out to be a very successful one. The members of the club not only included people interested in acting but also those who are interested in other fields of drama. At the first of the year Mr. Sill, the sponsor, arranged to have several speakers come to speak on subjects ranging from oral interpretation to play-cutting. Later the club studied make-up, stage producing, directing, and scenery. In the spring they formed the "back-bone" of the All-School Play and as a result, the play was one of the best ever produced at U. High.

IT'S ALL GREEK TO ME!

This year three foreign language clubs again appeared on the social scene at U-High. French Club, Latin Club, and Spanish Club all worked to learn more about the language they study and create interest in the country and its people. With the guidance of Mrs. Brackett and Mrs. Bork the members planned programs including movies, speakers, and plays written by the students in the foreign language they have mastered.

The Projectionists Club is designed for students who are interested in film projectioners and want to learn the tricks of operating the machine. Their skill is then put to use assisting teachers showing educational films during classes.

DEVELOP INDIVIDUAL INTERESTS

Ever since our Science Club has been formed it has been trying to do its part to encourage students into entering the science fields so important to the future. Thanks to Mr. Cummins and the officers, Science Club's program this year has been very interesting and educational for students with an eye on science. The schedule included many field trips, movies, and lectures by visiting scientists and fellow students. In addition, students worked on projects during the year in preparation for the Illinois Science Fair.

SERVICE CLUBS BENEFIT THE

The Future Homemakers of America can probably boast of being University High's biggest and most active club. This year, under the very able leadership of Janie Tally and the other officers, the girls gained a fuller appreciation of benefiting others while working and having fun with fellow F.H.A.'ers. The club was proud this year to have its president Janie Tally serve as Section President. Some of the outstanding activities included the Fall Rally, St. Louis trip, Daddy Date Night, Pre-game Supper, FHA week, and the Mother-Daughter Banquet.

In its fourth year at University High, Key Club continued to offer its services to the community and school. Key Club, sponsored by Mr. Teel, and presided over by Mike Brown, is composed of males who wish to spend their time and energy for worthwhile causes. They celebrated the holidays of Thanksgiving and Christmas by donating food baskets to poorer families in the area; they endured the cold weather to do a profitable business selling refreshments at S.I.U. football games; and provided our Lynx fans with refreshments at some of the home games.

Stuart Philips is busy selling the very useful "University High Directory", published for the first time this year by the Key Club.

Majorette Joan Hunsaker

Although U. High's band was small in number, it had lots of enthusiasm and aroused school spirit at all this year's home football games. The lettergirls and the majorette aided the band in its performances which included the 3-1/2 mile march in the S.I.U. Homecoming parade, the State Contest in the spring, and the graduation exercises.

The Lettergirls are Shirley Glenn, Carol Fox, Vicki Erickson, Bette Parran, Ann Griffin, and Marsha Curran. The alternates are E.J. Tally and Betty Hong.

PRODUCED AWARDS FOR TALENT AND

This years Madrigals, wearing their new authentic-looking costumes, are: (seated) Janet Anderson, Jeri Olsson, Susan McClary, Cynthia Lean, Lynda Houghland, Julie Joffray, Nancy Rice, Nannette Seymour. Those standing are Scott Hinners, Bob Southard, Steve Howe, Jacob Bach, Lewis Pearce, Bill Troutt, Don DeJarnett.

The members of the mixed, girls' and boys' choruses have kept busy this year by singing for many occasions. In October they sang for the choral clinic, in December for the Christmas Assembly, the Nativity Scene in front of Holden Hospital, "Carols at Christmas", and in the spring for the State Contest and the Spring Sing.

The Madrigals, with their new costumes, practiced many long hours to achieve perfection. They and the other musical ensembles, such as Sextet and Octet, sang for many local and school affairs, and also went to State Contest at the close of the year.

CLASSES

Classifying the students at University School according to character would take several months and many psychology tests to determine the Einsteins from the Frankensteins. But we have a much simpler and less embarrassing method of grouping them according to year of graduation: the classes of '63-'66. As for the other people who keep the school under law and order, turn the page and you will be confronted with them.

SENIORS

Senior Class monkeys, Mike Brown, President; Benita Greer, Vice President; and Julie Joffray, Secretary-Treasurer; know the secret of the tower.

These seniors have attended University School nearly all their lives: Lynda Houghland, Ann Freeberg, Laura Benson, Marilyn Hadley, Kathy Crandle, Jim Tudor, Billy Pugh, and Larry Wright; STANDING are Fred Van Lente, Robert Mees, John Stull, and Tom Gallegly. The belligerent architect on the floor is Bill Troutt. Do you recognize them in the picture to the left?

Seniors have little time to reminisce about the past years of high school; there is too much to do and think about for the present and future. In anticipating graduation and college, Seniors often disregard their high school responsibility of leadership. But there are some who accept it well, and others who are not ready for it.

I think we should go to New Orleans!

Jim Bricker studies a valuable American History lesson!

Junior Class officers are Marsha Curran, Secretary-Treasurer; Nancy Rice, Vice President; and Dick Murray, President.

Despite Losing Initiation Privileges . . .

Vicki works hard in the lunchroom making money for Prom.

We are finally upperclassmen, but a lot of good it does us; the seniors took away our initiation privileges. We're not bitter though; we've planned a wonderful Prom for them; Twelve hours in the Ballroom.

We can hardly wait for the new experiences ahead of us as THE upperclassmen next year. And after that? Well, we are concerned about our futures but not really able to do anything about it yet.

SOPHOMORES

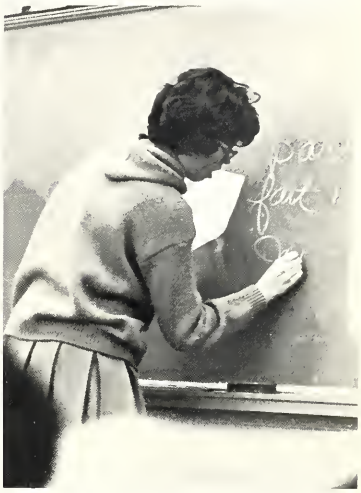
Jill Harrison works best in French II with her mouth open.



Definitely the Luckiest Kids in School

Sophomore: A person who has a year to recuperate and relax after initiation and before Prom; they are definitely the luckiest kids in school. Happily, they aren't taking it too easy; they tried hard on the football team and learned to work and play with the upperclassmen.

Sophomore, according to Webster's, also refers to a wise AND foolish person; in other words, a confused kid. But this is typical of high school students much to adults dismay.

Kandy expounds on the future glories of the Sophomore Class.

FRUSTRATED FRESHMEN

Freshmen class officers are Roger Norman, President; Betty Chaney, Secretary-Treasurer; and Roger Tedrick, Vice-President.

At the beginning of the year we Freshmen were lisping, lolly-pop sucking, and very lost kids. After a while we found ourselves listless, and lame from the rigors of football and modern dance routines. Much of our time was spent lurking in the shadows trying to avoid gawking upperclassmen, who made us leap to their command. But after two semesters at dear ol' U. High, we have really changed. We no longer feel little and limp, and at last we are an active part of this school. Despite everything we love U. High!

ACTIVITIES

All organized or spontaneous fun that has not already been classified as an organization or sport is considered in this section. Other normal activities abound in the halls and rec room all the time, but the main events are the most vividly remembered times: The hours in planning Homecoming, the months spent slaving on Prom, and the years waiting for Graduation.

HOMECOMING STAR DUST, AND

CANDLELIGHT RAINDROPS

And the rains came . . .

The lights dimmed; there was a moment of silence as Mary Jean Fitzpatrick was crowned 1962 Homecoming Queen. Events got under way again with a spirited pep rally Friday morning. Early that evening fans snaked their way to McAndrew Stadium for the football game. The rains came, right on schedule, making it another storm-swept Homecoming. After the game, starry-eyed couples danced to sweet music and candle light (thanks to a complete S.I.U. power failure), a perfect ending to an evening of "Stardust."

"O Christmas Tree"

Christmas time was preceded by a week of slush and icy roads, but as our Christmas Party rolled around the slush and icy roads became colored lights and a red carpet to Santa's chair. Sno-ball's queen, Margie Maloney, reigned over her court with grace and beauty. In addition, the F. H. A. decorated the school, the Choruses and Madrigals provided an entertaining assembly, and many other clubs had parties to make the 1962 Christmas Season a joyous one.

FROM SWINGING

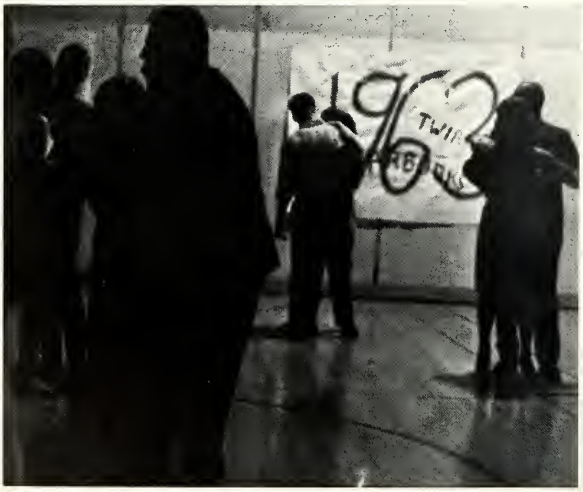
Members of Dance Club Continental their study hours away.

The many after-game dances gave to U-High patriots a real opportunity to show their enthusiasm in the form of twists, fast dances, and the ever-popular slow dance. These dances, held in the gym, were sponsored by different school organizations which provided music, refreshments, and entertainment.

The Dance Club was organized to promote an interest in many types of dancing and to help the students become better dancers. With the help of Mr. Hashee, this club was popular with many students, and it helped to make the social life at U. High enjoyable.



This after game dance welcomes the New Year.

TO SERIOUS SPEECH

Speech activity is one of the major parts in the curriculum. This year, the combined speech teams involved over 100 students, travelled over 2400 miles, consumed hundreds of hours in research and practice, and competed against dozens of schools and hundreds of students from 5 states. In addition, speech students worked in the planning and staging of 2 major speech tournaments, assembly programs, and an all school play. This record places University School at the top among schools in which students voluntarily engage in activity that trains the mind.

THE RAT RACE

The editors at a Summit Conference; Seated are Madeline Harris, copy; Jeri Olsson, organizations; Kathy Crandle, business; Susan Farris, sports; Chris Boner, editor; Standing are Carol Harper, classes; Nancy Rossiter, editor; Vicki Erickson, activities.

CHRIS: Well Nancy, thank heavens, it's done!

NANCY: Over, finished, /&+@.

CHRIS: Really though, it was a lot of fun despite all the headaches, problems, difficulties, uncooperation, etc.

NANCY: Gee, it was fun.

CHRIS: Remember all the interesting experiences in this room? Ha! It seems we have learned a lot?!

NANCY: I'm exhausted! Dragging witticisms out of my brain to enliven your dull copy. (Regrettez-moi) Too bad we can't split our talents: your brains for my imagination.

CHRIS: Actually though, some of our most rewarding and enlightening discoveries about human behavior were a result of this excruciating job.

NANCY: Stop preaching. You know I agree with almost everything you say, but not always what you do.

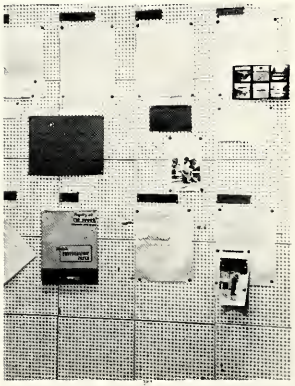
CHRIS: By the way, how did our friendship ever survive?

NANCY: Get way from my apple! If you don't stop swiping my lunches, we won't be friends for long.

CHIRS: Me?! What about MY lunches, spray-net, and lemon drops? I'm gonna kill ya some day.

NANCY: What will they do next year?

CHRIS: Yeh, without us.



SPRING '63

This spring faced everyone with cold winds and dreary Mondays. The rains came just in time for the all school play. The fine cast overcame the dampness to provide outstanding entertainment in the way of serious (?) acting. Evan McHale, Jim Brown, and Jake Bach were three angels, according to Mr. Sill, the director, and played their parts to perfection. Prom night was wet and chilly, but beautiful as the ebony heavens received their sprinkling of silvery stars. All too soon, spring decided to recognize the heat of summer and the students of U-High roasted as graduation and the final moments of the 62-63 school year came to a close.

TRACK AND

Doc Stotlar claimed, "This is the finest track team I have coached in the 15 years I have been here." The winning of the Conference Track Championship broke a quarter century of Christopher domination. U-High took second in both the Mid-South Track Meet and the Pinkneyville Freshmen-Sophomore Track Meet. Keith Beyler, Ross Franklin, Bill Pugh, and David DeWeese composed the varsity relay team which won first place along with the school record and a trip to the State Track Meet. The mile relay team took second, the school record, and a trip to State. Members of this relay were David Juhlin, Ross Franklin, David DeWeese, and Bill Pugh. As a result of a second in the 100 yard dash, DeWeese participated in three events in the State Track Meet. Ron Murphy also set school records in both the high and low hurdles and is Conference champion. Tom Young, Red Basler, and Dan Wheeler were others who made this year the best U-High's track team has ever seen.

BASEBALL

According to the baseball coach, Ken Schatz, the Lynxes had a winning season, even though the official record was 5 wins, 8 losses. The team was headed by a fine core of seniors: Bruce Horrell, Lonnie Raney, and Bill Turkington. The "Big 3" at the mound were Higgins, Mees, and Dickerson, while the batting brigade was led by Mees, Horrell, Dickerson, DeWeese, Rhine, and McCoy. The highlight of the year was the District Tournament game against Murphysboro, the SWE champions, when the Lynxes battled the Red Devils, down to the wire, only to be beaten in the late innings by a single run. The '63 team was characterized by a lot of hustle, the desire to win, a fighting determination, and making the best of their ability.

PEARLS OF THE PACIFIC

Prom 1963 was a dream come true--the dream of all U-High Juniors. At times the Juniors called it a nightmare and desperately wished they would awaken, especially when they were informed of the fireproofing rules. As the night wore on, the banquet, dance, movie, and breakfast led into the wee small hours of the morning and sleepy eyed couples returned home, carrying with them memories to last a lifetime.

MY THREE ANGELS

A CHRISTMAS CAROL where it is more convenient to bump off Scrooge than it is to convert him. This was the idea behind one of broadway's funniest plays as it was presented two evenings to packed houses on April 26-27. It was one of the most successful productions ever staged at U-High.

Right on his fat, red, neck--Adolph's a pal.

We're here. We'll protect you lovingly--24 hour service.
